Message from the CEO

As we enter 2017, we are excited about the new opportunities and programs we have planned for the year. For example, with regard to our Well Woman Visit Mobile App, we are working on adding a Menopause section, which we know you will want to download. At the end of 2016, we completed a new edition of the App, which now includes the assessment of Irritable Bowel Syndrome. Remember, the App is free, and a very helpful tool in your practice, so please share it with your colleagues today!

We are in the process of planning four regional, 1-day, complimentary CE meetings that will cover topics such as HPV Immunizations, Contraception, Bacterial Vaginosis, Menopause, and Hereditary Cancer. Last year, we held a regional meeting in Pasadena, California. Instead of providing just didactic lectures and slides, we introduced case studies on the topics and broke into small groups. The attendees loved the format and were happy they participated. Watch for announcements of future meetings and locations.

Another project we are working on for 2017 is our Patient Portal. Over the years, we have provided nurse practitioners with toolkits comprised not only of educational materials for you, but also helpful information for your patients. In addition to the toolkits, we want to provide a place for your patients to access NPWH-vetted materials that are easy to understand, visually engaging, and easy to use, and that serve as an excellent resource for practical information regarding their health. This Patient Portal will give you, the provider, an opportunity to print the materials to give to your patients and/or direct them to our website. At a later date, we will provide this information in Spanish as well.

The year 2017 is the fourth in a row that we will be offering the Women’s Sexual Health Course for NPs. This course will enhance your ability to promote women’s sexual health and increase your confidence in being able to evaluate, diagnose, and manage female sexual dysfunction. The course will be held on June 8-11, 2017, at the Sheraton Inner Harbor in Baltimore, Maryland. For your convenience, we have included the program guide and registration information in this issue of the journal. Don’t miss this opportunity; register today!

– Gay Johnson
Chief Executive Officer, NPWH
NPWH and ISSWSH welcome you to the fourth annual Women's Sexual Health Course for NPs. We believe that sexual health is a basic human right and a vital component of wellness. Unfortunately, many women have concerns about their sexual health and others live with female sexual dysfunction (FSD) and don't know that help is available. As NPs who care for women, you are the best resource to help women achieve and maintain satisfying sexual lives. This course will enhance your ability to promote women's sexual health and increase your confidence in your ability to evaluate, diagnose, and manage FSD.

Educational Objectives
At the conclusion of the meeting, attendees should be able to:

- Interpret the current state-of-the-art knowledge in epidemiology, physiology, and pathophysiology of female sexual function and dysfunction.
- Assess female sexual dysfunction using history and physical, psychometrically validated inventories, blood tests, neurological tests, and blood flow testing.
- Apply medical, surgical, behavioral, and psychosocial treatments available for a woman with sexual dysfunction presenting in a community setting.
- Distinguish when to treat a woman with sexual dysfunction in the office and when to refer.

Needs Statement
Female sexual problems are common but are underreported and undertreated, even though state-of-the-art diagnostic and management strategies are available. The purpose of this CE program is to provide nurse practitioners with up-to-date evidence and expert consensus on female sexual medicine, evaluation, and therapeutic strategies. We will address the necessary knowledge, required skills, and professionalism attributes required for excellence in the current practice of sexual medicine.

Vulvoscopy Workshop

This workshop will give you the opportunity to learn clinical skills used in sexual health practice. Using models, you will practice key steps in vulvoscopy, performing biopsies, suturing, and anal Paps. In addition, you will learn in detail about management of vulvar dermatologic issues, vaginitis, and abnormal Pap tests. Finally, to balance your learning experience, you will be exposed to some simple in-office sexual medicine procedures that can be performed under vulvoscopy.

Educational Objectives

At the conclusion of this workshop, attendees should be able to:

- Describe the embryology and histology of the vestibule, vulva, and vagina.
- Apply skills of vulvoscopy as part of a sexual health examination.
- Distinguish various dermatologic disorders, including lichen sclerosus, lichen planus, and dermatitis, and treat them appropriately.

Completion of a course in women's sexual health provided by NPWH or ISSWSH is a prerequisite for the Vulvoscopy Workshop.

Needs Statement

As part of treating women with sexual dysfunction, a physical exam including vulvoscopy is recommended. While most offices treating women with sexual health issues have a colposcope, few practitioners are trained in its use for vulvoscopy, as this is not included in the standard nurse practitioner curriculum. The purpose of this CE workshop is to provide nurse practitioners with up-to-date knowledge and required skills for diagnosing and treating various sexual health problems.
